Tethys Water AG produces and distributes Tethys, a drink with natural sulfur iodine water from the hydrothermal deposit of Lavey-les-Bains in Switzerland.

Tethys Water AG brings the 200-million-year-old, submerged primordial sea Tethys back into the bottle for you. In this way, the precious primordial sea with its naturally contained salts is made available to you again. The trace element iodine is contained as iodide, which has been proven to be beneficial to health. The iodide is not added, as is the case with table salt, but is a natural source of iodine.
